

LAST EDITION. EXTRA. READY FOR PLAY.

Yale and Princeton Elevens Waiting for the Word.

Thousands Crowd Manhattan Field to See the Game.

Betting on the New Jersey Students Strengthens on the Field.

Tigers in Prime Condition for the Championship Battle.

Betting on the Field—3 to 1 on Yale.
In New Haven—2 to 1 on Yale.
In Princeton—3 to 1 on Yale.
In Boston—3 to 1 on Yale.

[BY SPECIAL WIRE.]

MANHATTAN FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 26.—The battlefield selected for the final struggle between Yale and Princeton for the football championship of 1901 is a scene of bustle and excitement this morning.

Although two hours must elapse before the fighting begins spectators eager to witness the fray are already arriving in droves at the grounds, and are jostling and elbowing each other in their anxiety to secure places from which to view the great contest.

They have already taken possession of all points of vantage along the railing that incloses the field, and are beginning to fill up the seats on the free stands.

500 POLICEMEN TO PRESERVE ORDER.
Inspector Conlin with 500 police reserve, is on duty at the field, and the blue-coated officers are as thick as flies in summer time. They are stationed in every part of the grounds to preserve order and look out for the comfort and safety of spectators.

The gates were opened at 10.30, but even at that hour a crowd of several hundred people had wedged itself about the entrance at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, and the moment the gates were rolled back the multitude surged inward with a rush that nearly tore the four turnstiles from their supports and made the ticket-takers do some of the liveliest hustling ever seen.

RUNNING AROUND THE END.

AS soon as they had passed the chutes there was a mad scramble for the field, and in a few minutes all the best places that an admission ticket would secure were triumphantly captured.

Talk about enthusiasm. The air in this vicinity is fairly saturated with it even now and what it will be a little later on may be conjectured.

The early comers are by no means all college men, though there is a goodly sprinkling of them on the field.

Goatheads have evidently caught the football insect, and are turning out in force to enjoy the sport, prepared to root and yell for their favorites as belligerently as the young collegians.

The following are the boxes, coach, carriage and tally-ho stands and the names of their occupants.

BOXES	COACH
1. G. G. Tyson.	20. C. E. Hagan.
2. J. H. Caldwell.	21. D. Stewart.
3. J. H. Caldwell.	22. M. H. Hagan.
4. J. H. Caldwell.	23. C. E. Hagan.
5. J. H. Caldwell.	24. C. E. Hagan.
6. J. H. Caldwell.	25. C. E. Hagan.
7. J. H. Caldwell.	26. C. E. Hagan.
8. J. H. Caldwell.	27. C. E. Hagan.
9. J. H. Caldwell.	28. C. E. Hagan.
10. J. H. Caldwell.	29. C. E. Hagan.
11. J. H. Caldwell.	30. C. E. Hagan.
12. J. H. Caldwell.	31. C. E. Hagan.
13. J. H. Caldwell.	32. C. E. Hagan.
14. J. H. Caldwell.	33. C. E. Hagan.
15. J. H. Caldwell.	34. C. E. Hagan.
16. J. H. Caldwell.	35. C. E. Hagan.
17. J. H. Caldwell.	36. C. E. Hagan.
18. J. H. Caldwell.	37. C. E. Hagan.
19. J. H. Caldwell.	38. C. E. Hagan.
20. J. H. Caldwell.	39. C. E. Hagan.
21. J. H. Caldwell.	40. C. E. Hagan.
22. J. H. Caldwell.	41. C. E. Hagan.
23. J. H. Caldwell.	42. C. E. Hagan.
24. J. H. Caldwell.	43. C. E. Hagan.
25. J. H. Caldwell.	44. C. E. Hagan.
26. J. H. Caldwell.	45. C. E. Hagan.
27. J. H. Caldwell.	46. C. E. Hagan.
28. J. H. Caldwell.	47. C. E. Hagan.
29. J. H. Caldwell.	48. C. E. Hagan.
30. J. H. Caldwell.	49. C. E. Hagan.
31. J. H. Caldwell.	50. C. E. Hagan.
32. J. H. Caldwell.	51. C. E. Hagan.
33. J. H. Caldwell.	52. C. E. Hagan.
34. J. H. Caldwell.	53. C. E. Hagan.
35. J. H. Caldwell.	54. C. E. Hagan.
36. J. H. Caldwell.	55. C. E. Hagan.
37. J. H. Caldwell.	56. C. E. Hagan.
38. J. H. Caldwell.	57. C. E. Hagan.
39. J. H. Caldwell.	58. C. E. Hagan.
40. J. H. Caldwell.	59. C. E. Hagan.
41. J. H. Caldwell.	60. C. E. Hagan.
42. J. H. Caldwell.	61. C. E. Hagan.
43. J. H. Caldwell.	62. C. E. Hagan.
44. J. H. Caldwell.	63. C. E. Hagan.
45. J. H. Caldwell.	64. C. E. Hagan.
46. J. H. Caldwell.	65. C. E. Hagan.
47. J. H. Caldwell.	66. C. E. Hagan.
48. J. H. Caldwell.	67. C. E. Hagan.
49. J. H. Caldwell.	68. C. E. Hagan.
50. J. H. Caldwell.	69. C. E. Hagan.
51. J. H. Caldwell.	70. C. E. Hagan.
52. J. H. Caldwell.	71. C. E. Hagan.
53. J. H. Caldwell.	72. C. E. Hagan.
54. J. H. Caldwell.	73. C. E. Hagan.
55. J. H. Caldwell.	74. C. E. Hagan.
56. J. H. Caldwell.	75. C. E. Hagan.
57. J. H. Caldwell.	76. C. E. Hagan.
58. J. H. Caldwell.	77. C. E. Hagan.
59. J. H. Caldwell.	78. C. E. Hagan.
60. J. H. Caldwell.	79. C. E. Hagan.
61. J. H. Caldwell.	80. C. E. Hagan.
62. J. H. Caldwell.	81. C. E. Hagan.
63. J. H. Caldwell.	82. C. E. Hagan.
64. J. H. Caldwell.	83. C. E. Hagan.
65. J. H. Caldwell.	84. C. E. Hagan.
66. J. H. Caldwell.	85. C. E. Hagan.
67. J. H. Caldwell.	86. C. E. Hagan.
68. J. H. Caldwell.	87. C. E. Hagan.
69. J. H. Caldwell.	88. C. E. Hagan.
70. J. H. Caldwell.	89. C. E. Hagan.
71. J. H. Caldwell.	90. C. E. Hagan.
72. J. H. Caldwell.	91. C. E. Hagan.
73. J. H. Caldwell.	92. C. E. Hagan.
74. J. H. Caldwell.	93. C. E. Hagan.
75. J. H. Caldwell.	94. C. E. Hagan.
76. J. H. Caldwell.	95. C. E. Hagan.
77. J. H. Caldwell.	96. C. E. Hagan.
78. J. H. Caldwell.	97. C. E. Hagan.
79. J. H. Caldwell.	98. C. E. Hagan.
80. J. H. Caldwell.	99. C. E. Hagan.
81. J. H. Caldwell.	100. C. E. Hagan.

THIRD FLOOR TALLY-HO.

1. W. D. W. Dimmock. 11. L. B. Sturgis.

2. W. D. W. Dimmock. 12. L. B. Sturgis.

3. W. D. W. Dimmock. 13. L. B. Sturgis.

4. W. D. W. Dimmock. 14. L. B. Sturgis.

5. W. D. W. Dimmock. 15. L. B. Sturgis.

6. W. D. W. Dimmock. 16. L. B. Sturgis.

7. W. D. W. Dimmock. 17. L. B. Sturgis.

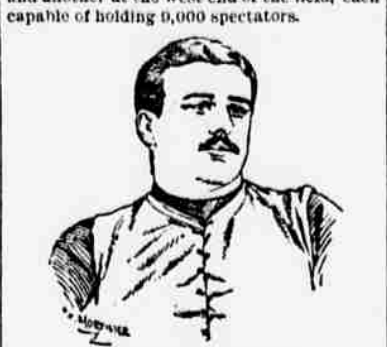

last Thanksgiving, only there is less wind, which is a good thing for the players, as it affords most favorable conditions for fine kicking and punting.

If the clouds do not begin to leak before the game is over everybody will be happy. The appointments of the field are admirable in every respect and are vastly superior to anything that has been afforded in former seasons on occasions of this kind.

The credit must be given to the management of the M. A. C. for the careful and thorough manner in which it has prepared for the event.

THE SEATING ARRANGEMENTS.

The arrangements for seating the vast throng, which is now on its way here, are the best that could be made. Besides the grand stand on the south side of the field, which will seat 6,000 people, there are four enormous open stands, on each side of the field, each capable of holding 9,000 spectators.

CAPT. WILSON, OF YALE.

One at the north side overlooking the coach stand and commanding an excellent view of the field, and a fourth at the east end of the field, with a capacity of 5,000 each, make it possible for at least 34,000 people to see the game without standing.

The ground itself within the railled inclosure is gridironed with white lines from side to side every five yards throughout its entire length, and is in splendid condition since the rains of a few days ago it has been rolled and leveled, until now it is smooth and firm as a billiard table.

In fact, there is no reason to grumble at anything, and the kicker has yet to make his appearance.

If the rival elevens have ever played genuine scientific football they will be able to play to-day.

The view from the centre of the field, now that the tiers of benches rising one above another on all sides have begun to fill there is a fringe of humanity two or three deep skirting the railing around the inclosure.

Those who have secured the inside places have prepared themselves for a long siege for they know that they can't get out until the game is over, unless they give up their places to those pressing in from behind.

LUNCH BASKETS THERE.

Many of them have brought luncheon with them and are munching sandwiches and crackers and cheese while waiting for the players to make their appearance.

At the entrance of the grounds the sandwich and hot frankfurter vendors are plying a prosperous trade, while half a hundred or more boys and men are selling blue ribbons and orange and black ribbons and flags to the crowds which are pressing in.

The colors of Yale and Princeton float at either end of the grand stand, which is still rather empty, for those who have reserved seats are not obliged to come with the early rush of those who are after places.

CAPT. WARREN, OF PRINCETON.

A great many ladies have secured places with their escorts on the free open stands, and as they all wear the colors of their favorites the dark mass which now looms up on their sides of the field is brightened here and there with bunches of gay ribbons and splashes of big yellow chrysanthemums.

PRINCETON GIRLS AND CHRYSTANTHEMUS.

The latter is the favorite decoration of the Princeton girls, and many of them are literally buried in masses of those bright-hued blossoms.

The Yale girls are not so fortunate in their floral adornment, for there is no flower of blue that can compare with the chrysanthemum in showiness and brilliancy.

OUTSIDE COLLEGES.

They seem to have generally adopted the more modest violet as the emblem of their favorites, though they abundantly make up the deficiency with a supply of blue ribbons, silk handkerchiefs and banners.

STRENGTHENING BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

a Harvard day than at a Yale and Princeton picnic.

STRONGER BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

a Harvard day than at a Yale and Princeton picnic.

STRONGER BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

a Harvard day than at a Yale and Princeton picnic.

STRONGER BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

a Harvard day than at a Yale and Princeton picnic.

STRONGER BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

a Harvard day than at a Yale and Princeton picnic.

STRONGER BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

a Harvard day than at a Yale and Princeton picnic.

STRONGER BETTING ON PRINCETON.

The talk about the reserve strength of the Princeton team has caused the betting to veer around somewhat more in favor of the Jersey men since last night.

The backers of the tiger stripes certainly are showing no end of confidence and enthusiasm in their talk at least, and some bets have been reported at the field at odds of 3 to 1

the blue of Yale or the orange and black of Princeton, that comes down in front of the stands from the entrance is a signal for renewed cheering.

Pretty young women, decorated with the college colors, are greeted with immense enthusiasm, which causes no little embarrassment to some of them, producing crimson blushes which would be more appropriate on the Yale is long drawn out, and the whole thing is extremely effective as an inspiring college whoop.

CORNELLIANS FOR PRINCETON.

A contingent from Cornell occupy seats on the west stand. They are cheering for Princeton.

Another stronghold of Princeton is on the south stand, just below the grand stand.

YALE'S KICKERS.

1. Hinkey. 2. Graves. 3. Hoffelinger. 4. Morison. 5. McCormick. 6. Hartwell. 7. Sanford. 8. Mills. 9. Winter. 10. McClung (captain). 11. L. B. Sturgis. 12. Dyer. 13. Stellan. 14. Harboer. 15. Measler. 16. Wallis. 17. Paine.

The colors of the tiger are massed in that spot and he is roaring continuously.

Since noon the clouds have been growing more threatening in their appearance and the rain drops have begun to fall.

PERSPECTS OF A WETTING.

It looks now as if the crowd, over for a week, would be the game is over, for very few have come provided with umbrellas. Those who have them are beginning to find them useful.

The crowd is trying to keep up its spirits by cheering and blowing horns, but there are hundreds bitterly disappointed in the weather which promised so favorably early in the morning.

Two Princeton coaches gaudily trimmed with yellow bunting have just passed in and the New Jersey crowd are cheering them lustily.

AND THE SAWDUST MAN!

Jim Robinson, the field manager of the Manhattan Athletic Club, is now busy in the lower part of the oval with some men, who are covering up some soft spots with sawdust.

Nearly all the coach and carriage stands have been taken up. There are a half dozen of Col. Elliott F. Shepard's Fifth avenue seats with the winding stairways and gallery stages, as many more tally-hos, and all the hotel coaches that could be secured up, besides carriages and hacks.

Those who come late will not be able to enter the field.

STATEN ISLAND ATHLETES ARRIVE.

A big delegation from the Staten Island Athletic Club has just arrived in coaches. They sport the Yale blue. Among them are:

Joe Kipp, Jr., F. B. Fearon, Arthur Quartley, C. H. Jewett, Jr., George W. Jewett, E. W. Jewett, E. B. Arkenburg, R. Fearon, S. Rich, J. Van Rensselaer, Roe Marcellus, M. Marcellus, J. S. Ried, M. B. Medier, J. E. D. Trask, Fred S. Ames, Thomas Golaing, F. S. Pitt, G. Trowbridge, K. H. Taylor.

Another coach contained Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Robbins and Thomas Hunter, of Utica, all for Yale.

Other Yale coaches brought Mr. and Mrs. Thebaud, Miss Little Campbell, Louis Haight, C. L. Fabre, a big delegation of "99" men, including W. H. Vanderbilt, a son of Cornelius; Moses Taylor, H. C. Headland, Joseph Hoby, A. S. Chisholm, A. Lawrence Greer, J. H. Morgan, C. D. Jones, T. A. Gardiner, Montgomery Hare, A. F. Harvey, S. B. Jones, W. Rogers, A. B. Wade, B. M. Crouse and A. V. Lambert.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

At this hour it is evident that Yale is largely in the majority on the field. The Princeton colors look like small islands in an ocean of blue on the free stands, which are nearly filled with the people.

the blue of Yale or the orange and black of Princeton, that comes down in front of the stands from the entrance is a signal for renewed cheering.

Pretty young women, decorated with the college colors, are greeted with immense enthusiasm, which causes no little embarrassment to some of them, producing crimson blushes which would be more appropriate on the Yale is long drawn out, and the whole thing is extremely effective as an inspiring college whoop.

CORNELLIANS FOR PRINCETON.

A contingent from Cornell occupy seats on the west stand. They are cheering for Princeton.

Another stronghold of Princeton is on the south stand, just below the grand stand.

YALE'S KICKERS.

1. Hinkey. 2. Graves. 3. Hoffelinger. 4. Morison. 5. McCormick. 6. Hartwell. 7. Sanford. 8. Mills. 9. Winter. 10. McClung (captain). 11. L. B. Sturgis. 12. Dyer. 13. Stellan. 14. Harboer. 15. Measler. 16. Wallis. 17. Paine.

The colors of the tiger are massed in that spot and he is roaring continuously.

Since noon the clouds have been growing more threatening in their appearance and the rain drops have begun to fall.

PERSPECTS OF A WETTING.

It looks now as if the crowd, over for a week, would be the game is over, for very few have come provided with umbrellas. Those who have them are beginning to find them useful.

The crowd is trying to keep up its spirits by cheering and blowing horns, but there are hundreds bitterly disappointed in the weather which promised so favorably early in the morning.

Two Princeton coaches gaudily trimmed with yellow bunting have just passed in and the New Jersey crowd are cheering them lustily.

AND THE SAWDUST MAN!

Jim Robinson, the field manager of the Manhattan Athletic Club, is now busy in the lower part of the oval with some men, who are covering up some soft spots with sawdust.

Nearly all the coach and carriage stands have been taken up. There are a half dozen of Col. Elliott F. Shepard's Fifth avenue seats with the winding stairways and gallery stages, as many more tally-hos, and all the hotel coaches that could be secured up, besides carriages and hacks.

Those who come late will not be able to enter the field.

STATEN ISLAND ATHLETES ARRIVE.

A big delegation from the Staten Island Athletic Club has just arrived in coaches. They sport the Yale blue. Among them are:

Joe Kipp, Jr., F. B. Fearon, Arthur Quartley, C. H. Jewett, Jr., George W. Jewett, E. W. Jewett, E. B. Arkenburg, R. Fearon, S. Rich, J. Van Rensselaer, Roe Marcellus, M. Marcellus, J. S. Ried, M. B. Medier, J. E. D. Trask, Fred S. Ames, Thomas Golaing, F. S. Pitt, G. Trowbridge, K. H. Taylor.

Another coach contained Mr. and